

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Society Will Attend McCormack Concert for the Red Cross This Evening at the Opera House—A Case of Mistaken Kindness Appears

EVERY one is looking forward to the concert which will be given tonight in the Metropolitan Opera House by the much-admired Irish tenor, John McCormack, and the whole and entire proceeds are to be turned over to the Red Cross.

Mrs. George Horace Lorimer is chairman of the committee in charge of the concert and has with her in the undertaking Mrs. Charles Curtis Harrison, Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, Mrs. J. J. Martin, Mrs. Arthur Emilen Newbold, Mrs. John Barnes Townsend, Mrs. John White Geary, Mrs. Arthur H. Lea, Mrs. J. Kearney Mitchell, Ed. and Mrs. Horatio Gates Lloyd.

Mrs. Frederick English will have charge of the sides at the concert, some of whom will be Elizabeth Elliot, Christine Hehn, Elaine Taylor English, Elizabeth Yardley, Mary Dercum, Elizabeth MacCuen Smith, Miss English and Miss Moorhead.

Among the delightful songs Mr. McCormack is scheduled to sing are an aria from "Joseph" known as the Champs Paternals; "Autumn," by Faure, and Tosti's "Idealia." He will also sing "Ah, Moon of My Delight," "Littlet of All," "Bard of Armagh," Irish folk songs and various other compositions.

Among those who have taken boxes are Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer, Mrs. George W. Childs Drexel, J. Gardner Cassatt, Mrs. George Fales Baker, Mrs. Stanley G. Flagler, Jr., Mrs. W. W. Frazier, Mrs. George B. Packard, Mrs. Wilson L. Austin, Mrs. Cyrus M. K. Curtis, Mrs. Norman MacLeod, Mrs. Benjamin Miller, Mrs. James Francis Sullivan, Mrs. Michael Francis Doyle, Mrs. Edward Schmidt, Mrs. John Gribbell, Mrs. Francis X. Dercum, Mrs. P. S. Collins, Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, Mrs. Charles B. Hart, Mrs. Howard Longstreth, Mrs. Edward Moore, Mrs. Edgar T. Scott, Miss Mary Lippincott, Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, Miss Julia Berwind, Miss Nina Lea, Mrs. George Urquhart, Mrs. E. M. Lea and Mr. Charlton Yarnall.

THERE was a time—and not so very long ago at that—when a man who wore a wrist watch in these United States of America was almost taboo. And then, war was declared, which meant that there would be more uniforms and fewer pockets, but just as much time as ever; time for drills, time for mess, etc. There, arose the difficulty, for while Uncle Sam generously conceded that a man must have pockets, he does not model these same on lines calculated to hold a full-grown watch.

The jeweler, taking the cue, began to rob the wrist watch of its dainty femininity, and their camouflage succeeded so well that it is now quite customary to see a burly youth shamelessly consult his left wrist as to the time of day. Yes, quite a customary sight, but there are still exceptions.

One evening recently a concert was given down at League Island and the singing and dancing were in full swing and, judging from the applause, the efforts of the fair singers were being fully appreciated. Only in one spot did gloom reign, in the shape of a huge marine, who sat lowering amidst the surrounding gaiety. Little Mr. Gloom was certainly whispering in his ear. Well, he was the type of man on whom depends America's victory, the type that will lend shivers up and down the Boche's spine; and the Y. M. C. A. worker who sat next to him was anxious to get at the root of the trouble.

"Don't you enjoy music?" he asked. "Yes," was the laconic reply. "Then, what's the matter?" "The matter? Say, look at this!" and the giant bared his left wrist, disclosing a neat little watch fastened thereon. "And they had the nerve to give it to me," continued the aggrieved one. "Why, I was in service when we licked the Spaniards and we didn't have no baby watches then. What does a little thing like time mean to a fighting man, anyhow?" And the Y. M. C. A. worker smothered a smile as he thought of the misplaced kindness that had prompted this insult.

SERVICE FLAG WILL BE UNFURLED

South Philadelphia Church to Unfurl Service Flag at Christmas Entertainment

With so many men away from home and so much war activity on all sides, it is not strange that most of the Christmas entertainments this year will have a strong note of patriotism mingled with and overtopping the usual Christmas spirit.

At the Taber Presbyterian Church, Eighteenth and Christian streets, of which Dr. Willis R. Skillman is pastor, instead of the usual Christmas entertainment there will be the unfurling of the new service flag which has just been presented to the church. As the forty-two stars are uncovered the name of the boy in the service and his rank and location will be read aloud by the pastor. Before the unfurling of the flag there will be Christmas music by the children of the Sunday school and several entertainment features by Mr. Frederic Trepp.

Mr. G. Moore, Mr. Thomas H. Craig, Mr. William McGonigle, Mr. John McGonigle, Mr. Howard N. Mitchell, Mr. Robert J. McPhillips, Mr. Charles McCollum, Mr. William P. Smith, Jr., Mr. Thomas Goldsmith, Mr. Richard F. Schindler, Mr. William Hazleton, Mr. Archibald S. Paul, Jr., Mr. Raymond A. Paul, Mr. James H. Benson, Mr. James Greger, Mr. William J. Gardner, Mr. Eugene Ashman, Mr. Joseph P. Stanaban, Jr., Mr. Alexander Hutten, Mr. Robert Bell, Mr. Henry McMillen, Mr. William J. Johnson, Mr. Hamilton Breen, Mr. Robert J. McCloskey, Mr. W. An interesting letter was received by Doctor Skillman several days ago from Mr. Andrew McConachie, who has been in France for some time. Several weeks ago the welfare committee forwarded to each member in the service a complete outfit made by the women of the church—sweater, socks, wristlets, helmet, muffer and pillow—besides several letters from the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Stockley, of 1513 South Broad street, entertained their Friday evening fortnightly bridge club last week at their home. Supper was served after the game. Their guests included Dr. and Mrs. W. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. George McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McMorris, Jr., Mrs. James A. Maxwell and Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Rowand.

Miss Sarah Wampole, of 2517 South Colorado street, in the Girard Farms, has just returned from Washington, where she spent the last three weeks visiting friends. Miss Esther Hayward, of 1513 South Colorado street, was one of the speakers at a prize party on Saturday last to celebrate her birthday. Games and informal dancing were followed by supper. Her guests were Miss Marion French, Miss Mabel Reeves, Miss Elizabeth Williams, Miss Mary Stevenson, Miss Florence Phillips and Mr. Robert Frank, Mr. Louis Dohane, Mr. Lester Haldemann, Mr. Harold Trenton, Mr. John Weisner, Mrs. Wynne, Mr. Earl Whitehead, Mr. Byron Whitefield and Mr. William Hackett.

IN VITATIONS ISSUED FOR SEVERAL AFFAIRS

Informal Tea to Be Given Christmas Afternoon in Lansdowne. Dance Two Days Later

Christmas parties are not going to be given up entirely this year, for invitations are being sent for a few affairs. Miss Dorothy S. McEwen will entertain some of her friends at an informal tea at her home on Christmas afternoon.

Miss Elizabeth Reed will give a dance at her home on the evening of December 27. An interesting time was had on Saturday at the Baptist church. Mr. Kitchell told of his travels through Glacier National Park and the great North American Defense League with moving pictures.

The guild of the Presbyterian church held its regular meeting yesterday. The luncheon which they usually give each month was omitted this time. Sergeant Wells, of the First Canadian Brigade, British expeditionary force, spoke at the meeting. Mr. Kitchell also spoke in Borough Hall on Thursday evening.

Mrs. John M. Shrigley and Miss Ethel A. Shrigley are spending the winter in Philadelphia. Mr. Richard Shoemaker is home on a furlough, which he is spending with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Shoemaker. Young Mr. Shoemaker is stationed at Camp Hancock, Ga.

Mr. Clifford Bradley, the Thomas Bradford son, has also been home for a few days. Several girls in Lansdowne gave card parties last Saturday afternoon. Miss Dorothy Shrigley, Miss Katharine Shrigley, Miss Muriel Kral, Miss Alice Keller, Miss Sue Suddards, Miss Dorothy Shrigley, Miss Katharine Shrigley, Miss Elizabeth Reed, Miss Ida Galbraith, Miss Andrew Phillips, Miss Frances Shreiner, Miss Katharine Wilson, Miss Riddelle Young, Miss Gertrude Yarnall and Miss Elizabeth Shaffner.

Another small card party was given on that afternoon by Miss Josephine Pilling and Miss Olive Mason, at their home. Their guests were Miss Margaret Hunt, Miss Grace Bond, Miss Jennie Lewis, Miss Marian Giesler, Mrs. R. Hall Andersen, Miss Alice Matzler, Miss Gertrude Edwards, Mrs. Dorothy Edwards, Miss Margaret Shaffner and Miss Dorothy McEwen.

Some of the girls in Lansdowne went to the social dancing which was held on Saturday evening at the Suffrage Red Cross headquarters at 1725 Chestnut street. One of the features was given every Saturday night for the navy men and the special entertainment of the Woman Suffrage party of Delaware County. A special feature was the music, which was furnished by the University orchestra. The chaperone for the Lansdowne party were Mrs. R. Hall Andersen, Mrs. Helen B. Chipley, Miss Lillian Bunting, Mrs. S. Pancoast Lewis and Mrs. Carl Lewis Altmaier.

Some of the girls who attended the affair were Miss Dorothy Longcope, Miss Margaret Hunt, Miss Helen Lewis, Miss Grace Bond, Miss Helen Reid, Miss Mildred Lewis, Miss Alma Wallace, Miss Helen Taylor, Miss Olive Mason, Miss Josephine Pilling, Miss Ruth Vanderlich, Miss Whitehorn, Miss Anna Herr, Miss Harriet Diebler, Miss Laura Willis, Miss Margaret Willis, Miss Esther Hill, Miss Roberta Crawford, Miss Ruth Decker, Miss Lillian Yorkes and Miss Mary Frances Gallagher.

A meeting of the Lansdowne Home and School Association was held in the auditorium of the high school on Friday evening. Dr. Joseph H. Willis made an address, his subject being "Human Engineering." Mrs. Mary E. Eastwood then talked on "Teaching Location in the Public School." Afterward an open discussion of both these topics was held by those present at the meeting. Mrs. H. Ross Smith furnished the musical program, which consisted of songs by members of the choir of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Herbert Evans accompanied them. Mrs. Andrew S. M. Young was hostess for the evening.

Clever Entertainment Given in Minneapolis, Minn.

There were a good many ushers at the entertainment given recently at the First Unitarian Church, in Minneapolis, but any one who heard Miss Ruth Draper at the sporting carnival last summer at the Bryn Mawr Polo Field will understand that the crowd was large enough to need them all. For Miss Draper, of this city, and 192 and very well known here, furnished the evening's program with her clever monologues. If she is as popular in the West as she is in this city, Mrs. William Harrison Day, Mr. Edward Earl Sexton and Mrs. Louis Stoddard.

JUNIOR LEAGUE ACTIVE IN SOUTH

Christmas Plans Include Dinner for Children and for Boarders at Memorial Home

The annual meeting of the Junior League of Atlanta, Ga., was held recently at the Piedmont Club, and in spite of the snow and cold there was a large attendance. Miss Isoline Campbell, the president, was in the chair and during the afternoon a review of last year's work was given, showing gratifying progress over even the record of the year before.

Christmas plans of the league include a dinner for delinquent children at a local school and another dinner for the young women boarding at the Buford Memorial Home.

Mrs. Atwood, matron of the Buford Memorial Home, and at the conclusion of her interesting address the league decided to add a number of rooms to those that they have already furnished. Miss Frances Brown was made chairman of the work in connection with Christmas plans at the Home for the Friendless, and Mrs. Phillip L'Engle was appointed chairman of a committee who will make regular visits to the Buford Home to keep in touch with the needs of that organization.

Miss Mary Hawkins accepted the office of house for the league and will be present at the School of Household Arts twice a week. In addition to many interesting reports that of service register attracted attention. This register is worked out according to the card index system and states in exact figures the amount of service performed by each member. Any member not registering the minimum of an hour's service for others each week is automatically dropped from membership.

WOMAN WRITERS MOVE INTO NEW QUARTERS

Club, in Midst of Red Cross Activities, Finds Time to Change Home

The Woman Writers' Club of Philadelphia today marked its rapid growth in membership by moving into new club quarters in the Art Alliance Building, 1523 Walnut street.

Since 1912, when the pioneer movement to gather the city's magazine, newspaper and advertising women writers into one organization was inaugurated, more than 100 have signed themselves as members.

Just now, to prove that their country comes first, even when it means sitting up late at night, awaiting a full and busy day, the women are working three nights a week in Red Cross activities. They are making bandages, compresses and stockings. A special feature is the latest addition to their workroom, which is in the Record Building. In addition to this mechanical knitting, nearly every woman who writes for the city is doing some knitting needles in her odd moments.

Over and above this, the women, who are represented on every Philadelphia newspaper, have volunteered to donate their "talent" to the promotion of Red Cross work through magazines and the press. Each has offered to write an article about special phases of this organization's work. These are to be published in the Red Cross News.

Former Philadelphian Leads List of Patronesses

It is always interesting to hear of the activities of former Philadelphians in other cities. From New York come the following news of a young matron who has continued the interest in charitable affairs which always characterized her in this city. Mrs. Angler B. Duke, who will be remembered as Miss Cordelia Biddle, of this city, leads the list of patronesses of the Miniature Dolls' opera and play of "Cinderella," which are to be given in Aeolian Concert Hall on Friday afternoon, January 11, at 4 o'clock. Part of the proceeds of the entertainment will go to the fund for the mothers and children of the men in the American army and navy. The program is under the direction of the Misses Mixer, of this city, and 192 and very well known here, furnished the evening's program with her clever monologues. If she is as popular in the West as she is in this city, Mrs. William Harrison Day, Mr. Edward Earl Sexton and Mrs. Louis Stoddard.

Lieutenant Jeter Hoffland, U. S. N., recently appeared for these knitted garments for the selected men and Mrs. Ryan in a very short time was able to send 125 sweaters and 200 helmets to the Red Cross, Seattle. Mr. Howard Metcalf, Mrs. Brinton Buck are on the roll of honor.

Dr. and Mrs. De Forest Grant, of 70 East Fifth street, New York, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Thompson, to Mr. John R. Drexel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel, of New York. Mrs. De Forest Grant was formerly Miss James Beaton Thompson, of this city. Miss Thompson is a granddaughter of the late Dr. D. G.
